DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee (U.S. Patent 6,176,409) in view of Yu Chen (U.S. Patent 6,705,373). Lee shows an adhesive tape dispenser comprising: a case body, 100, in a gun shape containing an adhesive tape, 400, therein; a drawing means including a trigger, 220, protruded out of the case body and a pair of drums, 200, rotated by pulling the trigger and rotating in contact with a bottom surface of the adhesive tape to draw out the adhesive tape; a cutting means including a cutting lever, 300, outside of the case body, a lever, 320, operated by pulling the cutting lever, and a cutter, 330, provided at a front end of the lever and lowered to cut the adhesive tape which has been drawn out by the drawing means; and a reverse control means, 232, to prevent a backlash of the drums in operating the drawing means. Lee fails to show the cutting lever to be provided adjacent to the trigger.

Yu Chen shows an adhesive tape dispenser comprising a case body in a gun shape containing an adhesive tape and a cutting lever, 36, adjacent to the handle for operating the cutter, 24. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to place the cutting lever of Lee near the handle, and by extension adjacent to the trigger, because Yu Chen shows that this location for the cutting lever can allow for easy single handed operation of the dispenser and the cutter.

Regarding claim 2, Lee shows the reverse control means comprises back ratchets, 201, integrally formed on one side surface or both side surfaces of the drums and a support latch, 232, elastically supported by a spring 233, with the support latch being engaged with the back ratchets.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3 and 4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art, either alone or in combination suggest all of the limitations of the instant claims including a lever, a middle plate hung on a driving rod, a movable latch having an extension placed over the middle plate, and a support as well as a pair of elastic plates provided between the lever and the pressing part.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Huang, Langerak, Schwartz et al. and Shi each show tape dispensers with various designs for the cutting levers and cutting mechanisms.
